With world champion Rik Van Steenbergen and Belgian champion Albert Ramon, Gerrit Schulte, Valeer Ollivier, Georges Claes and Nest Sterckx at the head of the 116-strong field, organiser Stan De Deken and his team were extremely pleased. The celebratory mood was already there when 'big Rik' and the West Fleming Berten were honoured with flowers before the start. 33 riders sprinted for the win. Everyone expects Rik Van Steenbergen to win, but the world champion suffers a puncture 300 m from the finish and finishes... 33rd. Ultimately, it is West Fleming André Pieters who makes it by a few centimetres ahead of Lode Poels, who becomes champion of Antwerp.

Ernest Sterckx

(°Heultje-Westerlo 01.12.1922-+Leuven
03.02.1975)

Nestje Sterckx was exactly the kind of rider made to win a race like the Scheldeprijs. And he did that immediately even if the gap with second classified, same kind of rider and same generation, Valeer Ollivier was a very small one.

It looked like young Sterckx was destined to work his entire life in diamond industry but he wanted to take his chance as a rider. It looked like he was talented. He was really skilful on the bike and also very fast but on the other hand he was also the typical quiet and nice guy from the Kempen. Because of that he surely lost races in his career ('43-'58), but sometimes it has also been an advantage. In the youth category, Nest won 41 races and in the junior category, in the years '41 and '42 he was Dolf Verschueren's biggest rival. Only two years younger Rik Van Steenberghe was faster than he was.

Nest became a true national star. To become an international star he missed a stronger character.

Nestje's greatest wins are the Flèche Walloon ('47), Paris-Brussels ('47), Ghent-Wevelgem ('46), the Circuit Het Volk ('52, '53, and '56), the race of the Three Sister Cities ('48), the Circuit of the Flemish Regions ('50), the Scheldeprijs ('51), the Tour of Belgium ('49)... That means a total of 144 (!) professional wins, all of them except one in Belgium.

Nest was also a talented soccer player. After his career he managed a pub in Aarschot. Nice Nest Sterckx died when he was only 52 in the University Hospital St. Rafael in Leuven from a brain tumor.

It is raining hard at the start. 76 riders are ready to go and all the best Belgian riders are present, with Rik Van Steenbergen in the front row. Just before starting the last local lap, Van Staeyen, from Schoten, is alone in the lead. The gap with the bunch reaches 30". Unfortunately he is caught up. In the meantime, Briek Schotte and Rik Van Steenbergen were both the victims of a puncture. They are as a consequence not able to sprint for victory and Roger De Corte wins the event for the second time.

Roger De Corte

(°Waarschoot 08.08.1923-+Waarschoot
10.01.2010)

was one of the best riders on the road as well as on the track. He was a professional between 1944 and 1961 and won many races. Most of them in the sprint.

Those are some of the many races he won:

1946: Drie Zustersteden ('Three Sister Cities')

1947: Championship of Flanders Koolkamp

1949-52: Scheldeprijs

1950: stages in the Tour of Belgium and Germany

1954: 2nd in the Het Volk Circuit

1958: 3rd in the Het Volk Circuit

On the track, he took part in many Six-Day events. After his career, Roger became the national coach and was also during many years a very popular deputy mayor in Waarschoot. Roger's father, Raymond (1898-1972), was also a professional rider (he won amongst other races two stages in the Tour 1927).

84 riders take the start and after the big loop the bunch is still packed together while entering in Schoten. The local laps will be decisive for the unfolding of that edition of the Scheldeprijs. Leo Buyst, Ludo Van der Elst and Jos Theuns attack on turn but no way for them as the bunch as no intention of letting them go. Fast and crafty Hans Deckers attacks at 2 km from the line. He takes advantage of a moment of hesitation in the pack and a 50 m gap is enough for him to become the first Dutch rider to win the Scheldeprijs!

Hans Dekkers

(°Helmond 16.06.1928-+Eindhoven
30.08.1984)

Dekkers, a small and pugnacious rider, is the first Dutch rider who won the Scheldeprijs. He turned a professional in '51. He immediately won the national championship of his country and did the same again one year later. He won the 19th stage of the Tour de France in Bordeaux. He kept on winning races and in 1953 he was the best in the Scheldeprijs. But after that things changed and the two times Dutch champion's career finished already in 1955. He then joined the army to become a civil servant. He died when he was only 56 years old.

The weather is very sunny at the time the 80 participating riders take the start of the 42nd edition of the Scheldeprijs. The 20 years old Van Looy attacks and attacks again the entire day through. Nest Sterckx caught him but young Van Looy nevertheless attacks again. He is caught one more time and Roger De Cock and Marcel Janssens go in the counter-attack. In the sprint Cockske is definitely the fastest. Nest Sterckx beats Van Looy for the third place.

Roger Decock

(°Izegem 20.04.1927-†Aarsele 31.05.2020)

Cockske was a professional rider between 1949 and 1961. He achieved a brilliant career. Before he won this edition of the Scheldeprijs, he already conquered the Tour of Flanders (1952) and Paris-Nice (1951). That same year he finished at the second place of the 98 km long individual time trail of the Tour de France behind Hugo Koblet. He is also very famous for being the rider who alerted the emergency services when Wim van Est crashed in the descent of the Aubisque in the Tour 1951.

Alberic Schotte

(°Kanegem 07.09.1919-+Kortrijk 04.04.2004)

Briek, “the last of the Flandriens” as he was called, achieved in 1955 when he was already 36 years old a magnificent season. He won Ghent-Wevelgem, the Scheldeprijs and was selected to take part at the World Championships in Frascati.

Schotte is one of the ever greatest Belgian champions. He won twice the World Champion title (1950-52) and also races like Paris-Brussels, Paris-Tours and the Tour of Flanders, certainly the race that suited him best. In 1948 he took the second place of the final overall classification of the Tour behind Bartali. Once he finished his rider’s career, he became a team manager for many years.

Rik Van Looy (°Grobendonk 20.12.1933)

In that edition of the Scheldeprijs, nothing could be done to prevent Rik from Herentals from winning the race. He won later again in Schoten in 1957. During his incomparable career (professional from 1953 to 1970), Rik II won all the classics. He moreover became twice World Champion (1960 and 1961) and twice Belgian Champion (1958 and 1963). He won a total of 371 professional races. He is rightly considered one of the greatest riders in the history of cycling!
